

CROSSING EUROPE Film Festival Linz

Media Information #7/21, 8 June 2021

Finally back at the Festival!

Crossing Europe draws a positive balance

After one year of a forced break due to the pandemic, the CROSSING EUROPE Film Festival in Linz was able to realize its goal of presenting ambitious European film and offering the possibility enter into a direct exchange with the attending film guests. For six days the inner city of Linz transformed into the pulsating heart of the festival, in the traditional festival district around the Upper Austrian Culture Quarter, complete with the ticket container on the OK Platz and the festival venues Movimiento and City Kino. The OK Platz acted as a meeting place for the audiences and the film guests, and was able to act out its full potential over the first four festival days due to the weather. The implementation of the Central as a new venue also proved itself.

CROSSING EUROPE 2021 was one of the first festivals in Europe that was able to take place as an in-person film event in June – it goes without saying that all activities at the festival took place while adhering to the rules and regulations implemented to contain the Covid-19 pandemic, as the safety and well-being of our team and audiences were the highest priority. This festival edition saw multiple adjustments. Because of the necessary temporal “equalization” of the program, the number of films and screenings had to be slightly reduced, as the late night screenings had to be canceled due to the legal closing time being 10 PM. Additionally, a part of the established framework program could not take place this year (e.g. the Nightline), or took place online (talk events such as the “Tribute Talk: Ivan Ostrochovský” and the “YAAAS! Close-Up”), as well as the popular YAAAS! School Screenings only being offered to closed school classes. The implementation of the Covid-19 prevention concept also meant a higher number of personnel and extensive investments in digital solutions (for instance in the ticketing system and the website). Added to this, we were only able to offer 67% of the previous seating capacity in comparison to the festival edition in 2019 – seating had to be arranged according to a chess board pattern, which meant a loss of half the seats available in the cinemas, but the addition of the Central as a new venue was able to compensate for the loss of seating somewhat.

We were very happy to see that the festival audiences were not deterred by the necessary access rules due to Corona (the check of the mandatory security measures, wearing an FFP2 mask in the cinema, and keeping at least two meters apart from other people), nor by the summer weather. Particularly young cinephiles engaged both online and in-person. A total of 90 film guests from both in and outside the country were in attendance and were available for Q&As with the audiences – with a mask and keeping their distance. For a great number of the directors this was the very first opportunity they had to present their new works to a live audience. Around five hundred accredited industry guests (industry, press, and film students) were able to experience an exciting festival week in the Upper Austrian capital.

The high point of the bustling festival week was the award ceremony on 5 June 2021 during which money and material prizes worth 30 500 € were awarded. Details on the award winning films can be found HERE.

The program during the festival week encompassed a total of 123 feature films and documentaries from 40 different countries – this included 95 premieres (24 world premieres, and 71 Austrian premieres). In keeping with a well-balanced gender programming, 50% of the films shown in the competition section and 41% of all films shown were (co-)directed by women.

2021: Around 10 000 visitors

Of course this year's audience numbers have to be viewed in the context of the Covid-19 pandemic and its impact. The adjustments described above naturally lead to a reduction of attendees in comparison to 2019 where we had 24,000 visitors. The festival edition 2020 had to be canceled due to the pandemic.

We were very happy to see that the festival audiences accepted our invitation to join us on a journey all across Europe on the silver screen, despite the prevailing exceptional state of the world. Over the past few days we were able to hold a festival for around 10 000 festival visitors.

Added to this, it is important to mention that part of the festival, namely the Crossing Europe VOD-Premieres are available until 6 July, for these we will not have any figures until later (details below).

Looking towards 2022

All in all, we can say that despite the constraints due to the Covid-19 virus, we nonetheless had an enthusiastic audience, and both the media reports and the feedback by guests, partners, and funders were almost exclusively positive, which can be seen as a great affirmation for the work of the CROSSING EUROPE team over the past 18 years.

In 2022 CROSSING EUROPE will see a personnel change, as the festival director Christine Dollhofer who founded CROSSING EUROPE together with Wolfgang Steininger in 2003 will relocate and head the Filmfonds Wien and will therefore hand over all of her CROSSING EUROPE agendas after eighteen years of successful work in autumn.

The new personnel course will be set by the principle shareholders of the Crossing Europe Filmfestival gem. GmbH in accordance with the CROSSING EUROPE team, the Movimiento gem. GmbH and their legal representatives. The appointment of the new festival director will be announced in a timely fashion in autumn 2021.

The 19th edition of the CROSSING EUROPE Film Festival Linz will take place from 27 April to 2 May 2022.

CROSSING EUROPE VOD Premieres 2021 | 6 June to 6 July

From 6 June to 6 July, ten festival films from the CROSSING EUROPE program 2021 can be viewed on the local streaming platform KINO VOD CLUB by Austrian audiences. This year's festival can be best described as lively, open to the world, and multi-lingual – representative of this are the ten selected films from ten different countries that invited you to go on a cinematic journey all over Europe. Onward to Europe!

The VOD selection sees itself as an "inclusive" offer for all those film fans, who were not able to attend the festival for one reason or the other, and thereby gives the chance to take part in the festival and dive into the program online.

Films and details crossingeurope.at | price per film: 6,90€ | Note: A third of the ticket price for any film rented from KINO VOD CLUB goes to a selected art house cinema. So you get the chance to support our festival cinemas Movimiento/City-Kino.
